"The Mother of Presidents!" National Republican Conven-

The National Republican Convention which assembled at Chicago, last Wednesday, week has so far been the most exciting convention ever held by the party. Hefore the convention assembled it was evident that the contest was to be Grant and anti-Grant. Both parties were led by skillful leaders, and every point was sharply contested, consuming much time. The committee on credentials had quite a number of contested cases, and they continued in session night and day until Saturday morning, before they were ready to report, keeping the convention waiting. Then their report had to be fought over in the convention, consuming nearly all day. Finally at the Saturday evening session the disputed points having been all settled the National Committee elected, and all routine business transacted, the roll of States was called and formal nominations made and seconded. James F. Joy, of Michigan presented the name of James G. Blaine and was seconded by Mr. Pixley, of California, who was followed by a two minute speech by Frye of Maine; E. T. Drake of Minnesota, nominated Mr. Windom of that state; Mr. Conkling of New York, spoke of U. S. Grant, and the second speech was made by Mr. Bradley of Kentuckey; Gen. Garfield, of Ohio, nominated Sec'y Sherman, and Mr. Winkley, of Wisconsin, and Mr. Elliott, of South Carolina, followed; Mr. Billings of Vermont, presented the name of Mr. Edmunds, of that, state, and Mr. Sanford, of Mass., seconded the nomination; Mr. Cassidy, of Wisconsin, nominated Mr. Washburne, of Hilinois, and Mr. Brandagee of Conn., seconded it. Then at 11:50 the convention adjourned till 10 a. m. Monday.

On Monday morning the balloting con menced in earnest, and was pushed forward rapidly. We give below the result:

Gen. Garfield was conducted to the Lake Shore train on Wednesday morning last, from the Pacific Hotel, Chicago, by a band of music and a crowd of prominent gentlemen and delegates, on his way to Cleveland and home. The entire route of the train was a continuous evation to Ohio's favorite son. Immense crowds gathered at every stopping place, and at Elyria a car loaded with Clevelanders was ooked on to the Garfield car, making a numerous addition to his escort into Cleve lami.

The Democrats and Greenbackers of Maine have united in a single candidate for Governor, in General Harris M. Plasted. He was formerly a Republican, but latterly a Greenbacker. The parties will select a joint electoral ticket, with four Democrats and three Greenbackers, or rice versa. The united Democratic and ircenback vote in Maine last September was 69,258, and the Republican vote 68,-766, showing a majority for the opposition of 482. This was on the largest vote felt that it was a proud day for them, a ever polled in the State.

She numbers among her prominent gradu-ates, President Hayes, the Hon Stanley Matthews and the Hon, David Dayis, all of whom will be present this year at th Commencement, Chief Justice Waite, late trustee of the College, will also attend. The address before the Alumni, on the evening before commencement, will be delivered by Hon, Stanley Matthews. The poet for the occasion is the Rev. Wyllig Hall of Michigan. Bishop Jaggar, of 1 Southern Ohio, will preach the Baccalau reate Sermon, on Sunday, the 20th.

"The Valley of Baca"-a record of suf fering and triumph, by Jennie Smith

North Pownal, Bennington county, Ver-mont, formerly known as Whiffles Corner, is attuated in the south-western corner of the State, and by the usually traveled road the State, and by the usually traveled road one passes in an hour's ride from New York through the corner of Vermont by way of North Pownai into the State of Massachnsetts. In 1851 Chester A. Arthur, fresh from Union College, came to North Pownai and for one summer taught the village school. About two years later James A. Garfield, then a young student at Williams College, several miles distant, in order to procure the necessary funds to defray his expenses while pursuing his studies, came also to North Pownal and established a writing school, formerly occupied by Mr. Arthur, and taught classes in penmanship during the long winter evenings. Thus, from a common starting point in early life, after the lapse of more than a quarter of a century, after years of manity toil, these distinguished men are, by the action of the Chicago Convention, brought into a close relationship before the nation and before the civilized world.

Any Republican candidate could carry Ohio, but Grant couldn't do it, for he would be a third term candidate, and a third term means a fourth, and so on to the end. The man who is for Grant for a third term, and doesn't mean Grant for alfo, is incapable of understanding. If Grant should be nominated by the Republicans, Ohio becomes as safe as Kentucky for the Democrats, but Blaine would carry the State with a roar. If there is any man telling at Chicago a different story from this, let his mouth be stopped, for his intelligence has departed or the truth is not in him.

THE NOMINATION.

The long-continued and tedious session of the Chicago convention was amply atsever seen approached in this world, and toned for by the nomination that was reached on Tuesday. Whatever may have been our preferences for either of the three leading candidates, everything gave way in favor of the proud Representative of the 19th district, Gen. James A. Garfield. Althong there was some vague talk about Garfield becoming a dark Horse, a possible candidate in case of a failure to agree upon some one of the three, there was too much uncertainty about the matter to af ford anything like intelligent or confident lope. When, therefore, the news came, on Tuesday afternoon, of the fact of the nom-ination of Garfield, there was an enthusiasm, such as has not been seen since the stiring times of the rebellion. General Joy and rejoleing took possession of every Republican heart. Fings were run up along Main street, and streamers of red, white and blue flying from the roof and trailing upon the pavement, were seen from one of the prominent business blocks of the street-Haskell's. Congratulatory letters, both individual and collective, were immediately dispatched. As evening closed in, the Light Artillery brought out one of their baby wakers, which was made to subserve the purpose of adding to the general joy of the occasion. Music and bells and bonfires and impromptu elecution were also among the forms of expression found for the general joy and happiness that seemed to defy all confinement and restraint. The evening was made lively, and if the nominee could have been present to witness the frame of mind of the constituency of the old 19th district, Mr. Garfield would have felt his heart burn within him, as perhaps it never burned before. Our Republican fellow citizens proud day for the Republic, and they did their best to make it a proud day for their honored Representative-Senator-Chief Magistrate of the nation.

Apple Borra.—A subscriber asks how he can get rid of the apple borer. According to a writer on horticultural and agricultural subjects, when borers have once gained possession of a tree the only way to get rid of them is to hunt for them carefully with a knife or wire and destroy them. The eggs of the parent beetle are deposited during nights in June, and are placed in the bark of the tree at the surface of the ground, or whatever may surround the tree. These eggs hatch in our latitude during September; and it is soon after this that the young grub may be easily removed with the point of a penkife. A few minutes spent in this way about the first of October each fall will keep the tree from this pest.

Mr. President: I have witnessed the extraordinary scenes of this convention with deep concern. No emotion touches any heart more deeply than sentences in honor of great and noble charactery but as I sat on these reats and witnessed these denonstrations, it assemed to me you were a hisman occan in a tempest. I have seen the sea hashed into fury and touch info spray and its grandent moves the soul of the dullest man, but I renember that it is not but the calm level of fine seaf from which all heights and depths are measured, [Appdaisse.] Gentleman of the convention for present temper may not mark the [ Appliance.] Gentleman of the convention your presons temper may not mark the bestilling pulse of our people. When our enthusiasm has passed, when the emotions of this hour lave substiled, we shall find that calm lavel of public opinion below the store by which the thoughts of a mighty people are to be measured, and by which their final action will be determined. I Appliance. Not here in this brilliant circule, where 15,000 men and women are assembled, is the destiny of the Republican party to be decreed [cries that is so;] not where I see the anthusiastic faces of 756 delegates writing to cast their rotes into the urn and determine the choice of the Republic [applauses] but by four millions the urn and determine the choice of the Republic [applause] but by four millions of Republican firesides, where the thoughts ful yoters, with wives and enideren about them, with the cain thoughts inspired by lore of home and love of country, with the listory of the past, the bopes of the future and knowledge of the great men who have alterned and blessed our nation in days gone by. There find prepares the verdict, that shall determine the wisdom of our work to night. [applause.] Not here in Chicago, in the heat of June, but in the soler quiet that comes to them now and in November, in the allone of deliberate judgment will this great question be settled. [Cries of "Good,"] Let us nid them to night. [Applause.] but now gentlemen of the convention, what do we want? Twenty five years ago this Republic was nearing a triple chain of bendage. Long familiarity with traffic in the bedies and souls of men had paralized the conciones of a majority of our people. The beleful sovereignity had shook and weakened the noblest and most bendleient powers of the National Government, and the grasping power of slavery was seizing the virgin territories of the West and drauging them into a den of external bondage. At that crises the Republican party was born.

It drew the first inspiration from that fire of liberty which that has lighted in every human heart, and which all the powers of ignorance and tyranny can never wholly extinguish. [Applaise, ] The Republican party came to deliver and save the Republic, lentered the arena where the Republic for freedom, and drew around the sacrod circle of liberty, which the demon of slavery has never dared to cross, it made them free forever. [Loud applaies and cries of good.] Strengthened by its victory on the frontier the young party finder the leadership of that great man who on this spot twenty years ago was made the leader, it entered the National Capital and assumed the high duties of the Government. [Applaise, ] The light that shone from its banner dispelled the dark, ness its which slavery had enshroused the captives and melted the slackles of every slave per within the shadow of the Capitol. Our great National Industries, by an amprotected policy, were themselves prostrated, and the streams of revenue flowed in such feeble currents that the Treastry itself was well nigh empty. The mency of the people was the writched notes of two thousand uncontrolled and irresponshile State banking corporations which were illing the country with a circulation that poisoned rather than sustained. The light for business.
